Allseasons at the Meadows - Kilmarnock

Allseasons at the Meadows will be the first purpose built eco-friendly hotel to be built in the UK. The already completed first part of the two-phase £100million project included the construction of a new 25-acre loch and nature reserve in the west of Scotland. Phase two, awaiting planning, will see extensive landscaping, the construction of New England-style buildings around the loch, a marina and the construction of a 20-40 bedroom hotel, complete with solar panels and wind turbines. The hotel, powered by solar and wind energy, will include a restaurant, gym, spa and conference facilities. If all goes to plan it should be completed in 2009.

Allseasons at the Meadows is located 9 miles from Kilmarnock and 30 miles from Glasgow. It is an approximate 20 minute drive from both Prestwick and Glasgow Airports
