In brief

Green retreat for Ayrshire

An environmentally-friendly tourism centre including a hotel and luxury holiday lodges, is set to open in Ayrshire, Scotland in 2009.

The Allseasons at the Meadows development, near Galston, will feature a 40-bedroom hotel, 100 luxury holiday lodges and a 25-acre man-made loch. The site will include a modern harbour with moorings, coffee shops, and wildlife watching areas in the resort. The loch, which includes an island, has already been completed and the owners are now looking for interest in the development from hotel chains.
